NAME PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

An Effort to Dodge the Issue was a Failwre-Some Wanted an Endorsement of the Democratic Platform of 1892, but Instead a Straight, Unswerving Declaration for the Gold Standard is Made. Delegates to the Sound Money Convention Selected.

The state convention of the West Virginia sound money Democrats who have affiliated themselves with the new national Democratic organization, which was held in Wheeling Saturday, was one of the most important political gatherings ever held in this state. It was attended by 200 representative Democrats from every section of the commonwealth who have had the courage to cast aside political ties of a life-time and declare their independence of the Popocratic crowd led by Bryan, Alt-geld, Tillman and Bland, who have cap-tured the regular Democratic organizageld, Tillman and Bland, who have captured the regular Democratic organitation.

The convention was held in the Opera House. The morning session did not attract a large outside attendance, probably on account of the great Labor day demonstration, but in the afternoon the gallery was well filled with spectators. The onlower's first impression was of the character of the men who made up the convention. One who had attended the Democratic convention at Wheeling park could not but contrast the two gatherings. One was a howling mob of fanatics who had their wheels set in motion by the gilttering and theatrical utterances of Bryan. The other was composed of the solid and substantial members of the Democratic organization of the state who prefer the sound enunciations of party creed from men like Cleveland and Carlisle in preference to the ranting demagogy of Bryan, Bland, et al.

From Ohio county there was Caldwell, Russell, White Birth Screenfield.

Joseph Ruffner and a numerous delegation of solid men of the community.

action and assist in the triumph of sound currency.

The feature of the convention was the effort made at the afternoon session to evade a straightout declaration in favor of the gold standard, by substituting for the plank submitted by the committee on resolutions the financial plank of the national Democratic convention of 1892. Those who favored that measure were undenbtedly sincere, but the great majority of the convention knew that that platform was capable of two widely different interpretations, and would take away from the declaration of the convention all that would be gained by a sincere and unequivocal declaration such as had been presented by Chairman Enslow, of the committee on resolutions. Mr. Vinson struck the nail squarely on the head in his fine speech favoring the adoption of the financial plank submitted by the committee. Fully nine-tenths of the delegates were in favor of the committee's declaration, and when the question came to a vote, the opposition was but a drop in the bucket.

In addition to selecting presidential electors and delegates to the Indianapolis convention, which is to be held this week, the convention selected a state executive committee, which will have charge of a vigorous sound money Democratic campaign in West Virginia, which is to be started within a few days. Prominent speakers are to be secured, and meetings held in all parts of the state.

well of Wheeling called the convention to order at 10:30 o'clock, and introduced to order at 19:30 o'clock, and introduced Rev. Jacob Brittingham, of St. Luke's P. E. church, Island, who invoked the divine blesing. General Caldwell then addressed the convention briefly and earnestly. First, he explained that many who had been delegated to attend had not yet arrived in town, but that the provisional executive committee had thought it expedient to call the convention of the true Democracy of West Virginia to order and proceed with the transaction of business. The people of West Virginia, spid Mr. Caldwell, are to be congratulated that this assembly of truly representative men has gathered truly representative men has gatheredhere from all parts of the state, and the people of the country are to be congrated that the people of this little mountain state are inspired with the epirit that brought them here, to protest against the surrender of the time honored principles of the Democratic party. There is no doubt of the auspicious return of the efforts of this gathering and this campaign. The glories of the old Democratic party dep bid upon the men who compose this convention. Concluding, Mr. Caldwell named as temporary chairman, on behalf of the temporary executive committee, Hon. Benjamin Trapnell, of Charleston. He felt certain that tills convention would not follow the example of the late Chicago convention and turn down the committee's choice of temporary organization. On the contrary, he knew the convention would follow the time honored usages of Democratic conventions and endorse the committee's selection. Mr. Caldwell's remarks were received with hearty applause at frequent intervals.

The Keynote Struck, Messrs, Henry M. Russell, of Ohlo and Westenhaver, of Berkeley, were chosen to escort Mr. Trappell to the chair. The latter is a young man of striking appearance and address. His speech in assuming the chair was a clean cut and eloquent exposition of the issues of the campaign and the situation that confronts the true Jeffersonian Democracy of West Virginia and the nation. Mr. Trappell expressed his deep appreciation of the honor conferred by the convention and hoped not to fall below the standard demanded of such an intelligent and carnest body of men. The conditions of the present campaign, he said, are without precedent and he hoped never to see anything like them again. Four years ago the Democratic party appealed to the country and elected of the greatest of the latter day exponents of Jeffersonian Democracy, Grover Cleveland. (Applause.) What has followed? Four years of bickerings and personal jealousies that we would forget if we could. Continuing, Mr. Trappell said:

"Under the iniluence of these herechosen to escort Mr. Trappell to the

A cabal of Populists and renegade Republicans was plotting in the background; and the convention showed its sympathy with these alien elements by repudiating the administration of the only leader under whom they had achieved success for more than thirty years, and by denouncing the efforts to maintain our national honor, which were made by him and his great finance minister, John G. Carlisle. (Great approximate of the continued on Sixth Pare.

A COSTLY BLAZE

Early Yesterday Morning on Main Street In the Business District.

What might have been a very disastrous fire occurred yesterday morning shortly after 5 o'clock, when smoke was discovered issuing from the third story windows of the building just above the People's bank. Nightwatchabove the People's bank. Nightwatchman Robert Jenkins discovered the fire and immediately turned in the alarm at box 21, corner Main and Twelfth Streets. Mr. Jenkins passed the store occupied by Jacob Good at 4:15 a. m. and at that time there was no sign of fire, but when he came down the street again about forty-five minutes later he smelt smoke and investigated, finding that it was pouring out of the third story windows over the Good store, lie alarmed the residents lifting about and turned in the alarm as stated above. turned in the alarm as stated above.

The department responded promptly and did good work in putting out the fire, which was burning ilercely in the rear of Mr. Good's store. The proprietor of the store was at the Baltimore & Ohio depot when the alarm was sent in, waiting to take the train for Pittsburgh.

The entire stock of hats and caps was destroyed by the flames and water. The loss will probably reach $2,000, which is covered by insurance in the Emshelmer agency.

They are all well known in Wheeling, and should pack the theater at every performance. MY little boy, when two years of age, was taken very ill with blood flux. I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colle. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and luckily procured part of a bottle. I carefully read the directions and gave it accordingly. He was very low, but slowly and surely he began to improve, gradually recovered, and is now as stout and strong as ever. I feel sure it saved his life. I never can praise the Remedy half its worth. I am sorry every one in the world does not know how good it is, as I do.—Mrs. Lina S. Hinton, Grahamsville, Marion County, Plorida.

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

The Kanawna, the New Bay Packet on Her Initial Trip.

PASSED WHEELING YESTERDAY

Evening-She is Pronounced by Steam boatmen to be a Record-Breaker for Low Water-Was Drawing Twenty-two Inches, and will Altempt to Go Through to Pittsburgh-A New Departure in Hull Construction in the New Strambont.

Then new Bay line packet, the Kanavha, passed Wheeling last evening on her initial trip in the Pittsburgh and Kanawha river trade. Though she was not accorded the reception given the Virginia last winter, she attracted several hundred people to the public landing, who inspected the new craft. Many old steamboatmen who visited the Kanawha pronounce her a record-breaker in one particular and a fine steamboat from every point of view.

The point in which she is said to excel anything of her size ever seen on western waters is the small amount of water she needs to travel on. When she poked her none into the river several days ago she drew just seventeen linches, which is remarkable for a boat of her tonnage. On the present trip she is drawing a little over twenty-two inches. This is not more than the Argand, a very small bont, draws. The lightness of the new boat is explained by her rather wide beam and the fact that her builders struck out from the beaten paths of steamboat construction in the building of the boat's hult, which is built of firwood from Washington state. The Kanawha is the first boat on western waters to have a fir wood hull. This wood is used extensively in steamboat construction on the Columbia river in Washington and Oregon. It is a very tough wood of great lightness and durability. Capitain fra Huntington was on the roof and the regular crew of the Ruth, which is now rettred from the Pittsburg and Kanawha river trade, were on the new boat. The capitain is very proud of the Kanawha and predicts that she will be a fast one as soon as there is enough water under her bot water she needs to travel on. When she something like those on the big Virginia.

The Kanawha was taking things easy yesterday on account of the very low water. She had no trouble until she reached Bogg's Island, below the city, where she spent half an hour getting off a shoat. When she left the wharf at 7 o'clock, old steamboatmen hazarded the prediction that she would never be able to get past the Sisters on the present stage of water, but up to a late hour last night nothing had been heard of the packet and it is thought she worked her way through the most dilicult piece of water in this part of the river in safety.

PARKERSBURG, Aug. 30.—At 11 o'clock to-night the propellor Florence Shanks took fire while lying in the Shanks took fire while lying in the Little Kanawha river and was totally destroyed, as nothing could be done to save her. When the watchman on her first discovered the blaze he sounded her whistle repeatedly and a litle inter an alarm of fire was turned in and a large crowd soon collected to witness the conflagration, which was a beautiful one. Great difficulty was had in keeping the burning boat from floating into the Elaine and other boats, she having broken loose from her moorings. The Shank's was owned by Captain L. Cramer and son and Capt, Jim Hutchinson of this city. They paid $5,000 for her, How' the fire originated is not known. There was some insurance on the ill-fated steamboat.
